

Marina deal revamped Friday

County, Jubilee, Cure, fishermen agree

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Hancock County officials agreed Friday to sell Bayou Caddy Marina for $260,000, scrapping a succession of previous proposals involving Jubilee Casino's expansion plans.

The newest, and probably final, pact calls for sale of the marina to Bayou Caddy Fisheries, the Cure-family-owned business which currently leases and operates the Bayou Caddy Marina.

Jubilee plans to lease the two-acre property from the Cures, and turn it into a parking lot that will accommodate some 800 cars, said Jubilee's chief operating officer, George Baxter.

There was a collective sigh of relief among the room full of officials, Jubilee representatives, and fishermen when the action concluded at the special meeting of the Port and Harbor Commission. At one point in the two-hour meeting, facts and figures flew in the air as if tossed by gale-force winds.

Jubilee has agreed to keep a 60-foot wide docking segment of the marina facility open to public use, in addition to the boat launch. The casino also promised to make adequate parking available for marina-users.

Bayou Caddy Fisheries will relocate to property the family owns further away from the casino, and the business will be accessed by a slightly relocated path of Shipyard Road, Baxter said.

Meanwhile, county officials promised to tuck away the cash from the sale for future use as grant-matching money to build an entirely new commercial and recreational marina facility elsewhere in the county.

Several officials said the deal poses a "golden opportunity" for Hancock County to finance the new facility. And everyone appeared to agree that the existing dual use of the small marina area by fishermen and casino patrons is unacceptable.

Waveland Mayor Stella Frilot, and Hancock County School Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois, joined others in urging the commission to come to terms suitable to all parties.

Frilot said while Jubilee is outside the city limits of Waveland, the city has seen phenomenal benefits from it. Sales tax revenues to the city, she said, hit an all-time high of some $159,000 last month -- almost triple what it normally receives.

Frilot said thanks to Jubilee, previously unemployed people now have jobs and money to spend to buy things, boosting business activity in the city. And the casino, she said, has generated new commercial projects in the city.

NO ROOM FOR BOTH: Baxter, meanwhile, said either the Jubilee, or the fishing industry at Bayou Caddy, has to go. The area is simply too congested to accommodate both, Baxter said. But turning the existing marina into a parking lot would add enough spaces for 800 cars, he said.

Galaxy Casino

Agency reviewing public comments

BY MARY G. SEILEY

The state Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks is expected to deal with Galaxy Casino's application for permits in a meeting March 29.

The Bureau of Marine Resources, an arm of the commission which makes recommendations on permit matters, plans to take a position on Galaxy within two weeks, said BMR's Jennifer Buchanan.

She said Tuesday her agency is reviewing facts in the case -- and a 4-inch stack of comments from the public -- to reach a recommendation for the commission's consideration. Most of the comments, she said, are from opponents to the project.

But Galaxy casino developer Alvin R. Perry says he's far from discouraged about the project's chances of approval, producing a barge-based casino and land-based hotel east of Lakeshore Road on South Beach Boulevard.

Galaxy needs permits to dredge a canal about 1,600 feet long off South Beach Boulevard, and a change in the coastal use plan for its site.

Buchanan said BMR has determined that part of the site is designated as a preservation zone in the coastal use plan, and as such is set aside for protection. The rest of the site is designated for "general use," a category denoting residential and recreational uses.

Buchanan also said BMR has found a portion of the property at issue is an "historic sea grass" area. While there's no sea grass on the site currently, there was at one time, she said.

BMR's public hearing on the project last month attracted about 200 people, many of whom voiced opposition to the casino.

Perry said Tuesday, however, the public hearing produced "very little" objection from the Lakeshore community itself. The few local residents who were upset over the plans, he said, voiced objections that

Weidman calls for action on committee findings, road work

BY AMY PICKICH

The Waveland Board of Aldermen took action on two of four city business items presented by Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman Wednesday.

Ward 3 Alderman Curtis Colson conducted Wednesday's meeting as Mayor Stella Frilot and Ward 1 Alderman and mayor pro-tem Barbara Rappold were absent from the 30-minute meeting.

The board approved Weidman's request to have engineer Duke Levy assess road and water accumulation problems at the corner of Waveland Avenue and Highway 90 and near Phillips Drive.

Weidman requested a report and cost assessment to alleviate the two problems at the next meeting.

No action was taken on his request to schedule a public hearing to discuss the findings of a recent finance committee report to research revenue sources in the city. Weidman said he would wait until the next meeting to set a date, as suggested by Colson, since a full board was not present at the meeting.

Weidman also questioned the city's lease-payment agreement for sewerage services and payments for expansion of the sewerage treatment plant, but no action was taken on the issue.

Board attorney Lucien Gex said the lease, in which the city agreed in 1982 to pay rent to the treatment plant who would in turn pay the $4 million outstanding bond debt owed by the city, cannot be changed.

The city receives a small return, but the Wastewater District covers the large bond payment.

Gex added Waveland pays 10 percent of the treatment expansion costs based on usage, with the county and Bay St. Louis picking up the rest of the tab.

He said when the bond is paid off after the contract's 15 remaining years, the contract can be renegotiated.

AGENDA ITEMS

Waveland Police Chief James Varnell and assistant Chief Sam Henley were authorized to attend an in-service training class sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

The class, "Supervision Equals Effective Management" will be March 8-10 at the Waveland Resort Inn. The cost of the

GM&R wins sewer expansion contract

BY MARY G. SEILEY

A $2.3 million construction contract has been awarded to GM&R Construction Co. of Bay St. Louis to expand the area-wide sewer treatment plant.

Officials of the Southern Regional Wastewater Management District picked the firm from 15 competitors for the contract.

Earlier, the district awarded a separate contract for equipment, boosting the project cost to some $3.5 million, said district administrator Ethel Schott. With related project costs, such as engineering, the expansion is expected to total $4.1 to $4.2 million, Schott said.

The project will boost the plant's capacity from 2.25 million gallons per day to 4.5 million gallons per day. Construction is expected to take 14 months.

The treatment plant has been operating at or over capacity for about a year -- a situation that left the district open to fines of up to $25,000 per day from the Mississippi Commission on Environmental Quality.

Under terms of a consent order with the state, the district sidestepped administrative action by agreeing to expedite the expansion project.

District officials, including representatives of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County, recently issued $4.4 million in revenue bonds to finance the project.

Area governments have agreed to repay the bonds on a scale proportionate to use by city and county residents.

With two casino-goers per car, each spending an average of $110 per visit, Hancock County could see an additional $600,000 per year in its share of the casino proceeds, he estimated.

Officials also emphasized the financial impact of the commercial fishing industry that currently operates on the site.

While the official action at Friday's meeting came from the Port and Harbor Commission, four members of the county Board of Supervisors were on hand to watch and comment -- the board has final say over what happens with the county-owned property. It is expected to ratify the commission's decision in a meeting Monday.

Prolonged and intense negotiations on the matter had clearly taken a toll on some by Friday -- Supervisor Michael Ladner said it had driven his blood pressure up so high he had to seek medical attention. Others said they were barraged by telephone calls as proposals and counter offers flew.

Commission chairman David N. McDonald opened Friday's session by recounting the several near-deals that have been "back and forth" on marina issue.

Originally, Jubilee offered to buy the marina for $75,000 and give the county a 1,000-foot waterfront footage on nearby Pleasure Street for a new harbor site, complete with bulkheading.

The commission insisted on $200,000 for the marina, however, plus the new harbor site, or $300,000 for the marina without a new site.

McDonald said Jubilee wasn't willing to pay $300,000 for the site, however, and the deal Jubilee had tried to make to acquire the alternative site on Pleasure Street fell through -- the price tag on the privately-owned tracts involved escalated from some $40,000 to about $1 million when word got out that the casino needed the property, officials said.

At that point, the dealings collapsed. Tuesday, however, the commissioners heard and accepted a new proposal from Jubilee attorney Donald Rafferty: Cure would get a 300-month lease on the marina property, at $2,000 a month, and move the marina operation some 800 feet away on Cure-owned property. The monthly lease payments would be adjusted according to the Consumer Price Index after an initial five-year term.

CURE OBJECTS
McDonald said Friday the commission was under the erroneous impression that the casino and Cure were working in tandem in making that proposal, as they have been on previous proposals.

But Cure, who was out-of-town Tuesday, objected to the terms when he learned of it. He said Friday he didn't like the requirement that he would have to make docking space available to all commercial fishermen -- including those who don't sell their fish to his business -- on Cure-owned land.

Baxter said when he learned details of the lease proposal, he knew it wouldn't be acceptable to all parties. In addition to Cure's objections, some area fishermen were infuriated that the county planned to lease the marina without a huge cash settlement that would be available to build a new facility.

When the negotiating started anew Friday, Baxter questioned the soundness of an appraisal the county had done on the property, saying the $159,000 figure that the appraiser had placed on the marina was based on comparable properties on Highway 90 in Biloxi. "We're down here at the end of the world," he said of Jubilee's Lakeshore area site at the end of Beach Boulevard, rather than on Highway 90.

McDonald said the appraisal had been done by a "top notch" professional who based the $159,000 price on the value of a fishing marina. But the appraiser also determined a $429,000 comparable price for casino parking areas, McDonald said.

The commission had put a lesser $300,000 price tag on Bayou Caddy Marina, he said, only after considering the several encumbrances that are attached to the property. Those include the "pledge of local cooperation" which mandates that 60 feet of the facility remain open for public and commercial use.

"We don't just pick those figures out of the air," McDonald told Baxter. And, he added, public bodies can't ignore or drastically reduce appraised prices to accommodate sales.

McDonald at one point reminded Baxter that the casino had projected a cost of up to $150,000 in buying and preparing the new harbor site. McDonald said the commission had that sum in mind when it had set the $300,000 offer to sell the marina without the substitute site.

Baxter, however, said the plan had called for Cure to buy the Pleasant Street tract and make it available to Jubilee to consummate the deal with the county. Those terms of purchase and transfer to the county were "completely separate" from the dealings on the marina itself, he said.

He added that under a possible arrangement with Cure on the Pleasant Street property, Jubilee might have paid Cure over a period of 80 years for its re-sale, leaving Jubilee without a major up-front outlay.

Commissioner Russell Elliott demanded Jubilee put a written offer on the table for consideration Friday. "We thought we were doing y'all a favor," said an obviously-irritated Elliott. "We were trying to work with you..." he said of the ill-fated deal that collapsed after Tuesday's meeting.

When the $260,000 price was set, Rafferty outlined the points on a legal pad, and the commission went into executive session to discuss it.

Shortly, the commission reconvened and voted to accept the deal.

Technically, the sale will be made to Bayou Caddy Fisheries, since it holds a long-term lease with first right of refusal to buy the marina.

Board of Supervisors President Michael Ladner said after the meeting the arrangement amounts to a major economic development step for the county. He said work will start immediately to find grants to help build a new marina. Baxter predicted such a facility would be under construction in six to 12 months.

That's what area commercial fishermen have wanted for 25 years, said two who were at Friday's meeting. Frilot, meanwhile, began lobbying to have the facility built in Waveland, at the foot of Coleman Avenue.

were "not major."

Concern over traffic congestion is legitimate, he said, but that problem is being addressed in the planning process. Perry said other opposition was based on the notion that enough gambling facilities exist already, rather than specific opposition to Galaxy's plan.

He said the sea grass issue has been studied by a consulting marine biologist, who's determined the project "would have absolutely no effect on sea grass because there is no sea grass in the area at all." He maintains the project will enhance the environment, and provide improved sport fishing opportunities for area residents.

A separate case that was decided last month on a proposed Harrison County casino may have ramifications in the Galaxy matter.

The commission, based on a BMR recommendation, had voted to deny permits for Spectrum Gaming of Mississippi to locate in the Back Bay at d'Iberville. The proposal had been backed by city officials but was opposed by environmental and neighborhood groups from Harrison and Hancock counties.

The casino needed permits for dredging, bulkheads and piers, and a change from general use zoning to allow the commercial activity.

Commissioners re-heard the case after initially rejecting the plans, and reversed themselves to allow the project, based on arguments that the area was wrongly zoned for general use in the first place and has been evolving into commercial use.

Some observers said they believed allowing Spectrum to build in Back Bay may open the door for other casinos to locate in areas zoned for general use.

The commission declined to vote on another proposed Back Bay casino, Imperial Palace, which also needed a zoning change.

Red Cross postpones several blood drives

BY AMY PICKICH

A Mobile Mental Health Center volunteer team began assisting the staff from the American Red Cross Thursday, following a single-car accident Wednesday's which took the lives of two phlebotomy technicians and injured five other co-workers.

However, due to the number of staff members affected by the accident, spokesman Loretta Coulter announced that the Red Cross has postponed several blood drives to be rescheduled at a later date.

Carol Elaine Jackson and Debra Turza were killed when the van they were traveling in from the Red Cross office in Mobile to a blood drive at Stennis Space Center in Hancock County left the road and overturned twice when the driver attempted to bring it back onto the westbound lane of I-10. The blood drive at Stennis was cancelled.

According to Coulter, the driver of the vehicle, Shirley Busby, R.N., remains in critical condition with spinal injuries.

She said Beverly McLeod and Sandra Stephens, phlebotomy technicians, are still hospitalized with injuries. Patsy Smith, R.N., and Marlecia Hunter, phlebotomy technician, were treated and released from the hospital Wednesday.

Coulter said no blood was being transported at the time of the accident.

"The American Red Cross issues a special thank-you to donors and sponsoring groups for their understanding, and the entire Gulf Coast community for their outpouring of sympathy and concern," Coulter said.

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It had an interesting conversation with Hancock County Criminal Investigator Nathan Hoda this week. Hoda, who deals with cases such as theft and vandalism by the juveniles, said many of his cases have juveniles who are detained.

One of the comments Hoda made was that parents should be more aware of what type of music their children listen to.

Most of the juveniles detained by Hoda, he reports, have cassette tapes with song titles such as 'Kill A Cop,' 'Armed and Dangerous,' 'Ice-T' and others with vulgar language.

Some of the juveniles also carry semi-automatic pistols, sawed-off shotguns, boxes of ammunition, which Hoda said they take from their parents or obtain in burglaries.

Parents should monitor their children's behavior. Hoda reports many parents are very shocked when they are summoned by the Youth Court that their child is in trouble with the law.

Some parents do not realize the troubles many of the juveniles in this community get into.

"We are lucky more are not hurt because of the weapons we confiscate from juveniles," Hoda said.

"We had a recent case where a juvenile committed a burglary of an occupied dwelling. Someone could have easily been hurt," he added.

The sheriff's office deals with a large number of juvenile cases each month. Some of the juveniles have been detained several times, Hoda said.

In most cases, each time the involvement becomes more serious, and by the time they reach age 18, some can be considered a hardened criminal, Hoda commented.

What you know about your child's activities should be most important for each parent.

Law enforcement agencies are unable to cure all of our problems without the help of our citizens. As a parent, you can help by monitoring your child's activities and friends.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Mississippi should be as efficient as other states

Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines EFFICIENCY as "the capacity to produce desired results with a minimum expenditure of energy, time, money or materials."

Opponents to downsizing the Legislature should ponder this definition. Then they should go to the voters and explain why improved efficiency, effected by downsizing, isn't needed in Mississippi's legislature.

In the last 12 years, four states have reduced the sizes of their legislatures.

One only needs to make a few comparisons to see that Mississippi needs to do the same. Mississippi has 54 more legislators than California, which has 27.8 million more people than Mississippi.

Alabama, Tennessee and Louisiana also have larger populations, but smaller legislatures than Mississippi.

In fact, it's hard to find many states in the entire country with larger state legislative bodies than Mississippi.

Why have these states not increased the size of their legislatures and why have other states reduced the sizes of theirs?

MEC believes it's because they now they can do more with less. In other words, they are more efficient.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EPA should initiate Environmental Impact Statement

To the Editor:

I urge the EPA to initiate an Environmental Impact Statement for the Bay of Saint Louis. After seeing what is happening to the Back Bay of Biloxi — on Feb. 23, the Mississippi Wildlife, Fish and Parks Commission, against the recommendation of the Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources and against their own ruling of a month earlier, voted a variance to the Coastal zoning to allow D'Iberville Spectrum Casino to begin construction — I see no reason now why any body of water will be exempt from the environment-damaging encroachment of casinos on the Gulf Coast.

Just one-half mile west of my house on the south shore of the Bay of St. Louis, and in the residentially-zoned City of Bay St. Louis, the Gaming Corp. of America is planning to build a casino in waters now zoned "general" and not "commercial." The adjacent land is definitely of a character deemed 'wetlands' by the federal government. At least nine other casinos have plans to ring the Bay; another casino exists presently on the southern shore and yet another on the Mississippi Sound.

The local and state governmental units, after some initial resistance, are rapidly caving in to short-term commercial interests which will result in long-term deterioration in quality of life.

In addition to initiating an EIS, I would also urge you to stop the rampant permitting processes until a comprehensive environmental report can be issued under the aegis of the EPA/Corps of Engineers.

Unless the federal government steps in, I fear local and state governmental bodies will do nothing.

Your truly,
Richard R. McCollough
Bay St. Louis.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Congress, cable industry take aim at TV violence

Television viewers may soon find it difficult, for the first time in more than a decade, to catch violent programs on television. Both Congress and the cable industry have vowed to take aim at the epidemic of violence found on television.

With the political climate surrounding the issue of violence on television, Congress is expected to act soon on several anti-television violence bills. Furthermore, the cable industry recently announced its own self-imposed industry-wide anti-violence initiative.

The cable industry's initiative would give viewers more information and control over the violent content of programs through the development of a violence ratings system, an industry appointed outside monitor and a parental advisory system.

Tony Cox, Chairman of National Cable Television Association's Satellite Network Committee, said, "The cable programmers have united to lead the television industry in the effort to combat the epidemic of violence in America."

In Congress, the House Telecommunications and Finance Committee, under the helm of U.S. Rep. Ed Markey, intends to offer wide sweeping legislation to complement the cable industry's initiative.

One measure, which has been well received by the cable industry, would require television manufacturers to install a "V-chip" (for violence) in TV sets so parents can opt to "program out" violent shows with the flick of a switch. If a parent doesn't want their child to watch a specific show, that show could be blocked indefinitely by the TV chip.

Additional Congressional measures would request that the four major television broadcast networks and their affiliates, independent television stations, the Public Broadcast System, and cable programmers and operators not dramatize violence.

As a father of three children I agree with the hundreds of South Mississippians who have contacted me in regard to their children's exposure to excessive violence on television. It is sad that you can no longer leave a small child alone in front of the television for one second without them viewing a gory shoot-out or slaying.

Because of the cooperative climate found between the cable industry and Congress to rid television of excessive violence, I truly believe that this year's united front will merit results.

The cable industry's anti-violence initiative and the House's anticipated passage of bills to allow parents to block violent programming should curtail shows unfit for young viewers, allowing parents to rest a little easier.

U.S. remembers 8th anniversary of Persian Gulf conflict

Three years ago the United States Armed Forces led coalition forces in the liberation of Kuwait.

Now, as we celebrate the anniversary of the successful conclusion of Desert Storm, we are once again reminded of the bravery and sacrifice of the men and women who have served and continue to serve their country in the Persian Gulf.

This year, the public is being informed of an official medal that may be purchased to pay tribute to these veterans. A result of a law passed by Congress, the United States Mint was authorized to produce and sell 1/4 inch bronze duplicates of a Persian Gulf Veterans National Medal.

All of the net proceeds from the sale of these bronze medals will be used to produce the silver version of the medal for presentation to each of the estimated 650,000 veterans or their next of kin.

Congressman Gene Taylor is one of the co-sponsors of the legislation that passed the Persian Gulf Veterans National Medal.

The authorizing legislation specifies that the silver medals will not be minted or distributed by the Department of Defense until adequate funds are received to cover the cost of minting them.

In accordance with the eligibility requirements established by DOD, those entitled to the Southwest Asia Campaign Medal are also eligible for the silver Persian Gulf Veterans National Medal.

There are two packaging options available for the bronze medal:

—The Presentation Package

—which features the medal in a handsome velvet presentation case and a special protective sleeve.

—The Collector's Package — which features the medal in an unique envelope with an easel for display and an informational tent card.

Both options include a Certificate of Authenticity. The Presentation Package is available from the United States Mint for $15.50 and the Collector's Package is available for $12.50. Prices include postage and handling.

You can participate in the nationwide effort to support and thank all of the heroes of the Persian Gulf Conflict and to raise the necessary funds to produce the silver medals for the veterans by purchasing the bronze medal.

The Persian Gulf Veterans National Medal is the only official commemorative medal of the Persian Gulf War produced by the United States Mint.

To order the medal, call 1-800-216-0800, to obtain information call 301-436-7400 or write to Customer Service, United States Mint, 10001 Aerospace Road, Lanham, MD 20706.

Individuals wishing to make a donation can do so by making out a check to the "United States Mint" and mailing it to: United States Mint, Persian Gulf Veterans National Medal Fund, c/o Office of Accounting and Financial Systems, 633 Third Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20220.

To receive a Persian Gulf Veterans National Medal press kit and/or photograph of the medal, please call Sabra Coe at 202-333-0700.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator
Trent Lott

Balance the budget

One of the basic tenets of government, espoused by Thomas Jefferson, is that government live within its means and not spend more than it takes in.

Jefferson would be shocked today to learn that the checks and balances he helped establish 200 years ago are not up to the job of controlling the federal deficit. Washington's pro-spend and pro-debt bias has led to 24 straight unbalanced budgets. A succession of statutory remedies has failed to stem Congress' seemingly insatiable appetite for spending.

Against that backdrop, on Feb. 22, the Senate began debating an amendment to the Constitution which would require the federal government to balance its books every year, allowing it to run up a deficit only if three-fifths of the House and Senate agreed.

If passed by the House and the Senate, the amendment would have to be ratified by at least three-fourths of the states (38), as required by the Constitution, and within seven years, as stipulated by the resolution. If all went according to that schedule, the earliest year we could have a balanced budget is 2001.

The constitutional amendment before the Senate is not perfect, but it is one we should move forward. I do have two concerns about it. First, it does not require a super-majority vote (60 Senators out of 100) to raise taxes.

Second, its language should stipulate that social security not be part of the budget process. Social security is a separate trust fund. It is not causing the deficit, and its funds should not be used to reduce the deficit.

The last four presidents have pledged that they would balance the budget within a proscribed number of years. As it now stands, however, no balanced budget is in sight as far as the eye can see. The federal debt at the end of fiscal year 1993 was $4.35 trillion. The federal debt at the end of 1997 is projected to be $5.65 trillion.

President Clinton's proposed budget for 1995 increases the debt every year for the next five years, but more significant is the fact it does not count spending for several major programs he has committed to signing into law this year: health care reform, welfare reform, prison construction and more policemen.

I agree with the need to take action on all of these issues in one form or another, but to do so, we must cut back on spending in other areas. The Clinton budget is a perfect illustration of why we have a budget deficit. The President or Congress pledges to hold down spending but then turns around and passes new legislation to increase it.

The problem in balancing the budget is too much federal spending, not insufficient revenues. We do not need more taxes.

Since the Congress cannot seem to control its spending habits, the only answer is a constitutional amendment to require a balanced budget. Some criticize a constitutional amendment as a gimmick. Others say it would force serious cuts in vital government programs. It cannot be both.

What I think a constitutional amendment would do is enforce discipline on the Congress which it now does not have. The State of Mississippi has such an amendment, and it works. A constitutional amendment to balance the budget is long overdue for the federal government.

ASK THE V.A.

By Donald Mauffray

Calling AIDS the "health crisis of this century," VA Secretary Jesse Brown released a report on VA's progress in treating the many diseases associated with Acquired Immune Deficiency.

Interestingly, in a comparison of the differences in costs of care among patients with AIDS-related Pneumocystis carinii pneumonia—or PCP—the average monthly inpatient and outpatient costs at VA were lower than those at private and public hospitals.

Mean monthly inpatient and outpatient costs for PCP patients who were hospitalized at public hospitals were $5,468 and $506, respectively; $6,438 and $616 at private hospitals; and $3,128 and $366 at VA hospitals.

While the reasons for these differences are still being investigated, this might make a strong case for using VA as a model for how a large medical system works to reduce hospitalizations and overall health care costs.

In its AIDS research, VA has encouraged doctors to investigate new antiviral drugs that might stop the progression of HIV infection. For example, VA researchers in Durham, N.C. and Manhattan have looked carefully at the effectiveness of AZT treatment and the costs of that treatment.

Other important research efforts involving HIV vaccines are being carried out by VA researchers, and VA investigators are publishing a significant number of research papers on AIDS. From 1988-1992, VA published 4,665 manuscripts that were AIDS-related.

In FY 1993, VA treated

AUTO BURGLARY

A 17-year-old Bay St. Louis male is being held by the Hancock County Jail after being arrested Thursday for the burglary of a vehicle on Green Meadow Road, according to Bay St. Louis Detective Tom Burleson.

Burleson said the juvenile allegedly broke the car window and stole an amplifier just after 8 a.m. Thursday and was arrested around 11:30 a.m.

The amplifier was recovered and returned, Burleson said. Burleson and Bay detective Terry Eley are in charge of the investigation.

The Hancock County Exchange Club's auction committee organized in January and is now hitting the streets for donations for the club's fifth annual Fun Rais'n Auction May 9 at the Hancock County Civic Center on Longfellow Road.

There will be live and silent auctions, with proceeds benefiting the Family Child Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse, in addition to supporting its other efforts and on-going programs in the prevention of child abuse.

Auction previewing will begin at 6:30 and the auction at 7 p.m. Food and beverages will be available.

New or used items such as artwork, antiques, celebrity items or certificates for services are among the items being sought. All donations are tax deductible.

The auction is a great opportunity for businesses and artists to gain exposure while joining in a community effort against child abuse.

If you have not been contacted yet, call Barbie Haas, Hancock County Exchange Club auction committee chairman, for more information at 467-6576.

Haas said the auction promises to be bigger and better than ever since the Hancock County club is joining forces with the Gulfport Exchange club for an even bigger success than last year.

As I planned the trip, I discovered that a Disney vacation could easily consume my vacation savings and more. I also found useful tips and information which kept us on budget and made our trip more enjoyable. Perhaps these tips will help readers planning a spring or summer trip to Walt Disney World.

Avoid an in-season trip if possible.

A Disney vacation doesn't have to blow the budget

Costs as well as congestion detract from the fun. Attendance levels and much, much more can be found in one of the many Walt Disney World Guides at local bookstores. I borrowed a guide from a friend who had just returned.

Our family considered using frequent-flyer tickets, then decided to drive. We were pleased with our choice. The drive from the Mississippi Coast was an easy one, in spite of the length. Once in the Orlando area, the car allowed us to save on shuttles and food costs and gave us lots of flexibility.

Our guidebook and recommendations from friends helped us locate clean, comfortable motel rooms for $39 per night. Off-season rates outside Disney are as low as $39 per night. Discount motel coupons available at Florida gas stations and rest stops allow even greater savings. One friend uses a time-share trade for their Disney trips.

Another inexpensive alternative is staying at one of several nearby campgrounds. Although we opted for lower cost this trip, we saw advantages to staying at one of the many Disney properties during possible future trips.

Disney World passes are not cheap, so deciding between various passes can be an important decision. One-day, four-day, and five-day passes all have advantages detailed in Disney literature and the various guidebooks. The passes can be bought at a Disney store, over the phone, or at the park.

There are two advantages to purchasing the passes at a Disney store. In addition to avoiding the ticket lines, Disney stores still sell passes that allow guests to travel from one park to another in the same day. Passes purchased at Disney World only allow one park per day. Prices are the same regardless of when and where passes are purchased.

Buy as little food as possible in the theme parks. Fast food is expensive and not especially high quality. Pack sandwiches, juice and a thermos of ice water.

We used lightweight, soft-sided coolers and carried fresh fruit and vegetable sticks for snacks. Though Disney World discourages actually bringing food inside the parks, there are lockers and picnic areas just outside.

The warmer the weather, the more imperative it is to pack cold drinks for comfort as well as saving dollars.

Even at four, Emily's feet and legs wore out quickly. Stroller rental at the parks is $5 per day. It also gave us a way to carry coolers and other items. To save even more, bring your own stroller.

Bring rain slickers and good walking shoes. Disney can be a fun and affordable place for family vacation. It is still a delight for all ages.

Ice storm hits state research

By Ned Browning
MSU Ag Communications

The great ice storm of '94 has had a significant impact on Mississippi's scientific community.

Researchers in four of the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station's 14 outlying branches or units are laboring under the same handicaps as those people whom they serve.

While dairymen struggled with getting cows into ice-covered barns, Donald Pogue, an associate dairyman in research at Holly Springs, struggled with ice-slickened milking parlor floors. As homeowners look at damaged trees around their houses, Crofton Sloan, resident manager of Mississippi State University's Pontotoc research facility, looks at damaged experimental orchards.

The 4,110-acre Delta Branch Experiment Station near Stoneville, home to internationally renowned research in cotton, soybeans, rice, catfish, forestry and wildlife, is operating on one 25 kilowatt electric generator.

"By rotating our generator from site to site, we've managed to preserve much of our research," said Dr. Dave Ranney, head of the Delta Research and Extension Center. "Our major problems relate to greenhouses and experimental specimens in refrigerators and freezers."

"We've saved all our soybean work from freezing, but we lost weed control experiments. And, some experimental fish have been lost to ammonia toxicity," Ranney said.

The North Mississippi Research and Extension Center includes three experimental branches at Verona, Pontotoc and Holly Springs. Power outages also plagued them.

"Early on, we had to truck fuel from Verona to Holly Springs in order to run the generators that support our dairy research," said Dr. Pat Bagley, head of the north Mis-issippi research operations. It looks like two to three weeks before power will be fully restored."

Like local gasoline distributors, the scientists were not able to pump the necessary fuel for their silage unloader, milking machines and cooling tanks.

"We share the concerns of area dairy farmers because any milking delay beyond 12 hours slows milk production and impedes it by 10 to 15 percent for the rest of the lactation period which really is most of the rest of this year," said Bagley. "This particularly impacts our research efforts since lactation is a significant factor for measuring milk production in individual cows."

Bagley said when the storm first hit, the storage building housing the basic breeding plants for all Mississippi sweetpotato production was without heat. His staff also moved experimental sweetpotato slips from greenhouses into the center's office to capture enough heat. For three days they moved a generator back and forth between office and storage house.

The greatest loss on the Stoneville campus is the same as with industries and homeowners — trees. Ranney estimates that the cleanup of ice-stressed trees will cost at least $40,000.

"Fortunately, this occurred at a time of year in which scientists had scaled back lab work to attend scientific and professional meetings," said Ranney.

More counties declared disaster

U.S. Senator Trent Lott said Sunday FEMA officials announced 19 more Mississippi counties were declared disaster areas due to recent ice storms.

Sunday's declaration brings the total number of counties now considered disaster areas for the purpose of receiving public assistance to 26.

The declaration will make local governments and public utilities eligible. No declaration has yet been made with regards to individual assistance.

Bolivar, Coahoma, Leflore, Sunflower, Tallahatchie, Washington, and Yalobusha counties had been declared disaster areas Friday.

Sunday's declaration included Alcorn, Benton, Calhoun, Chickasaw, DeSoto, Grenada, Itawamba, Lafayette, Lee, Marshall, Panola, Pontotoc, Prentiss, Quitman, Tate, Tippah, Tishomingo, Tunica and Union.

"Mississippi has been hit very hard by these ice storms and this assistance is critical to helping us recover," Lott said.

"Unfortunately, this declaration still does not provide assistance to individuals and businesses who sustained losses from the storm. We will continue to work to seek relief here as well."

Special to the Echo

By Andy Elkins

The Pearl River Wildcat baseball team took on NCAA Division III Loras College Sunday evening in Panama City, Fla. at Frank Nelson Park.

The Wildcats were led by second baseman Kevin Jacobi (Waveland), catcher Reggie Welborn (Laurel) and pitcher Ray Davis (Poplarville).

Kevin (Jake) Jacobi, a reserve infielder, started his second game of the weekend tournament at second base and produced three runs from a bases-loaded grounder up the middle, a 360-foot sacrifice to left center field and a 365-foot blast over the left field fence.

Laurel's Reggie (Paw Paw) Welborn collected three hits and three RBIs while coming up a triple short of hitting for the cycle.

Welborn began his surge with a double down the left field line and scoring two runs; then he ripped a single over the first baseman's head. For his last trip to the plate, Welborn sent a 3-1 pitch to the pine trees that were standing 40 feet from the left field fence.

Two other Wildcat hitters hit homeruns during the 15-5 win in Panama City. Morgan City's Greg Guidry hit his first homerun of the season when he drove a 2-1 pitch over the left center field fence in about two seconds. Guidry had been smashing the ball all weekend to distances of 380' and 390'. Lumberton's Sheddric Rodgers hit his second homerun of the year.

Davis started on the mound for the Wildcats and pitched a complete game. He had pitched four innings in the previous game and was removed from a game that he had started due to a line drive that hit Ray's throwing shoulder, thus causing a severe bruise and soreness to occur.

Ray managed to catch the ball and throw out the baserunner for a double play.

Ray ended up pitching in three games for a total of 10-2/3 innings, one win, allowing only five runs and striking out 11 batters. Coach Nightengale said, "Ray Davis gave our team all he had during the last game after coming back after that type of injury."

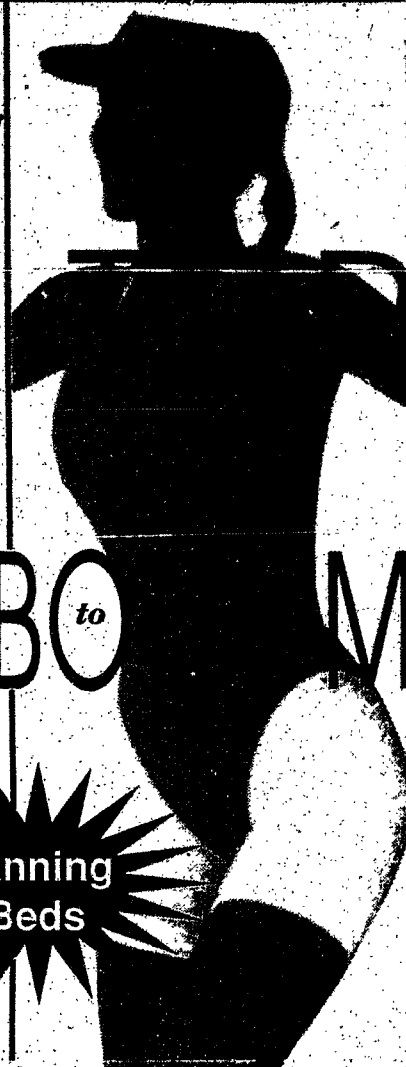

The Wildcats begin their conference season Tuesday, March 8 at Southwest C. C. in Summit, Miss.

Rocks pounded by Bearcats, 17-5

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus baseball team dropped its second game of the season to the Long Beach Bearcats on Wednesday by the score of 17-5.

In a game that was cold, not only the temperature, the Rocks committed 10 errors and allowed 10 hits. The Rock defense held up early on but then seemed to go cold in the latter stages of the game.

Each team scored three runs in the first inning and two runs in the second inning. The Rocks self-destructed from the fourth inning on. Long Beach scored four runs in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings.

Coach Tim Burns commented, "Hopefully, this was our poorest performance of the year. We can't possibly get any worse. We made lots of mistakes and we have to correct them if we want to win."

George Kerner went 1 for 2 with two walks and two stolen bases. Ben Williams went 1 for 2 and continues to lead the team with a .500 batting average. Matt Wilty went 1 for 3 and is batting .428 for the year.

The loss drops the Rocks to 1-2 and 0-1 in division play.

ants may travel at their own pace. These events are recreation for the entire family.

City branch of the Hancock County Library System opened at its temporary location after being closed two weeks for the move.

More than 300 people visited the library on opening day, returning 1,113 items to the system. And those same people, along with another 224 who called in to renew their items for another two weeks, checked out 1,169 items.

"We have never seen so many people," said Prima Plauché, library system director. "And, according to our records, Tuesday broke all previous circulation records held at this branch. Each patron returned an average of four items, and then turned right around and checked out just as many." Normally, the library serves about 75-100 people daily, with checkouts and check-ins averaging approximately 300 items.

The main library closed in mid-February to move to its temporary quarters at the old McDonald building, two doors down from the previous location. The temporary move is due to the renovation and expansion of the present building and administrative complex, doubling the size and providing ore parking spaces.

The project also includes an upgrade of the library's integrated computer system, which performs library functions for all three branches of the system.

Second Saturday

Five downtown galleries plan evening openings next weekend

BY JANET MCQUEEN

As testimony to Bay St. Louis' growing art community, a monthly program of coordinated openings kicks off Saturday, March 12.

Five galleries will participate, according to Serenity Gallery owner Jerry Dixon, who expects seven by May.

The event is patterned after the Julia Street/New Orleans' First Saturday openings, which feature the works of 12 galleries each month.

The public is invited from 6 until 8 p.m. to meet the artists and enjoy refreshments and the music of classical guitarist Kerry Hanley.

Participants include:
—The Mississippi Gallery, Keith Karlson presents a series of color photographs of the Mississippi Gulf Coast entitled "Winter Afternoon." Tony Eccles will show mixed-media landscapes and a continuation of his "Lil' Antny" series.

—Serenity Gallery will feature porcelain by Regan

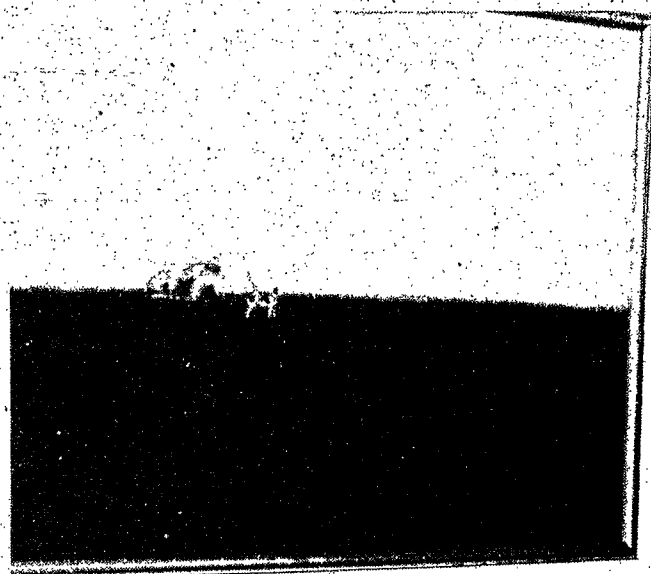

G. Carney. Carney, who lived in Los Angeles for several years, creates images with air-brushed stains, glazes and mixed media. Some are high-fired porcelain and others are more porous bisque. The artist moved her studio to Bay St. Louis 1½ years ago, and finds the area "generates a lot of energy" living and working among other artists.

—Village Emporium hosts Baton Rouge artist Randell Henry. Henry's works are a combination of paints, pastel, colored pencils, inks and markers. His subject matter involves fantasy, mythology, surrealism and ritualistic symbols of Eastern culture.

—S. Anne Lynch Studio houses the loveable menagerie of cats, mice, bunnies and other animals whose images are painstakingly reproduced on large rocks. The Cat Rock Studio owner and Pass Christian resident has sold her one-of-a-kind "pets" through Neiman-Marcus and Gump's catalogs. She also features Victorian Easter eggs and is currently designing a collection of tapestry collages.

—M. Schon-Erickson Gallery, 106 S. Second St., is the fifth participant.

Rotary Club of Diamondhead inducted two new members during February, according to president Jesse W. Stonecipher. Betty Melton is sales manager of L. L. Ltd. Fashions. She and her husband, Bill, reside at 882 Maili Place. They have a daughter, Kimberly.

Dr. David F. Roberts practices family medicine at the newly opened Diamondhead Clinic at 4535 Gex Drive. Roberts is also on the staff at Hancock Medical Center in Bay St. Louis. He and his wife, Wendy, recently moved to Diamondhead from Clinton, where he had practiced medicine for five years.

Diamondhead Rotary is a member of Rotary International, composed of 26,000 clubs worldwide made up of over a million business and professional people dedicated to world peace through world understanding. The Rotary motto is: "Service Above Self."

The club welcomed a new member, Karen. March 5 will be the club garage sale. Club officers elected are Debbie, leader; Tammy, co-leader; Janet, treasurer; Joan, secretary; Karen, weight recorder; and June, assistant weight recorder. Tammy was top loser in February. Tammy and Sandra lost six weeks in a row.

TOPS MS 233 meets every Tuesday at the Waveland Public Library. Weigh-ins are from 5:30-6 p.m. with the meeting immediately following weigh-in.

Anyone interested in losing weight the sensible way and maintaining that weight loss is welcome to visit the TOPS chapter. Interested persons are invited to call Debbie at 467-0784 for more information.

Riverview FCE Club

President Jean Barrett called the monthly meeting of the Riverview FCE Club to order at the human resources building, then introduced guest speaker "Doc" Toups.

Toups, who is a local journalist and photographer, gave a most interesting talk on cameras (from the very beginning to the present time) and photography. At the end of his program he had each member take a picture of the person sitting next to them. It will be interesting to see the results, since he gave us the film.

After the program the club had a very short meeting because a workshop was planned to make receiving blankets for the Hancock County Health Department. Nineteen blankets were made and presented to Debbie Cumberland of the health department.

The next meeting will be at the home of Kay Buccola. Dolores Ouder is co-hostess.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77

The monthly meeting of the Bourgoin-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 was March 1 at the post home on Coleman Avenue.

President Isabel Crais opened the meeting and color-bearers Elizabeth Bryant and Harriet Reighler advanced the colors.

Plans and preparations were finalized for the corned beef and cabbage dinner Saturday, March 12. Chairman Pat Lepine and Isabel Crais asked for volunteers to peel potatoes and onions and clean cabbages on Friday morning, March 11.

The semi-annual blood drive will be at the post on March 23 beginning at 1 p.m.

Also on the agenda was the Easter egg hunt on Easter Sunday, April 2 at the post. Children from the area are invited to participate. Prizes will be awarded, and refreshments will be served. The Easter egg hunt will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Initiation ceremony for new members was discussed, and final plans will be formalized shortly.

Hancock Women's Club

The Hancock Women's Club will hold its installation meeting and luncheon at 11 a.m. Thursday, March 10 at the Galley, Waveland Resort Inn.

Annual dues of $10 are now payable for the coming year. Non-perishable food items or a cash donation are most welcome to help the needy of Hancock County.

Diamondhead Lions Club

The Lions Club of Diamondhead will sponsor a banquet to celebrate the first anniversary of its charter.

President Howard Peters announced the banquet will be at 7 p.m. March 15 in the fellowship hall of the Diamondhead Baptist Church. Members, their partners and friends, will attend. Peters also extended an invitation to visiting Lions and their partners to join club members for the celebration and an evening of fellowship.

From an initial 34 charter members, the club has grown to its present strength of 45, with more prospective candidates joining soon. During the brief existence of the branch, members have contributed nearly $1,200 to train leader dogs, assist in research to combat eye disease and to aid Coast residents who have vision difficulties.

In April the club will collect funds with a can shake and will be publishing and selling cookbooks to help the International Association of Lions Clubs to meet their goal of raising $200 million to continue the search for cures to treat and prevent blindness worldwide.

For banquet reservations call 255-4417, 255-9481 or 255-9409. Cost if $8 per person.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The monthly sing-a-long, sponsored by the Clement R. Bon Temps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 for the residents of Hotel Reed Nursing Center was Thursday, March 3.

Sandy Breland, director of activity, had the dining room decorated in preparation for the St. Patrick's Day holiday. The residents filled the room to hear Lena Mae Oustalet play the piano, while Roslyn Weathers led the singing of oldies but goodies, hymns, patriotic and Irish songs. Elaine Roberts and Pat Turnipseed helped the staff serve refreshments.

The monthly birthday party for the residents of the Woodland Village Nursing Center was Feb. 22. Sponsored by the Clement R. Bon Temps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139, Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano, while Roslyn Weathers led the singing.

The monthly birthday party, sponsored by the unit for residents of Hotel Reed Nursing Center, was February 24.

Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano as Roslyn Weathers led the singing. Elaine Roberts helped the staff serve refreshments.

Community support

Hancock County Women's Club president Loraine Townsend and treasurer Goldie Beven presented Keith Mitchell, Waveland Community Development director, $300 for the expansion project at Elwood Bourgoin Park. The money will go to purchase playground equipment for handicapped children at the park. Mitchell said community involvement and support from local groups is considered when the grants are being awarded. (Echo staff photo by Amy Pickich)

MSU seeks recollections of historic old main dormitory

Two Mississippi State University historians want to hear from former students and others with stories and photographs to share about life in "Old Main," once believed to be the largest college dormitory under one roof.

The massive building burned in January 1959, but it remains the focal point of dozens of tales told and retold by generations of Mississippi State alumni. About 1,100 students occupied Old Main at the end. For years, virtually all male students called it home. Some of the bricks from the ruins were used to build the Chapel of Memories, a current Mississippi State landmark.

The Mississippi State University Alumni Association is sponsoring a project to produce a pictorial history of Old Main. History professors Roy V. Scott and Charles D. Lowery will compile, edit and oversee production of the volume, expected to include about 100 pages of text and numerous photographs.

The editors want to hear from anyone who has photographs of the inside or outside of the building or pictures that depict in any way student life in the building.

Scott and Lowery also are collecting stories related to Old Main, and are asking former residents and others to write or call with their recollections.

Photographs and information may be sent to Scott or Lowery at the Department of History, P. O. Box H, Mississippi State, MS 39762. They may be telephoned at (601) 325-3604.

GCR recycles newsletters

Bay St. Louis residents may receive their Gulf Coast Recycling newsletter by placing it in the curbside container on their regular route collection day, according to Pam Firmin, GCR public relations director.

The GCR newsletter is mailed automatically to participants in the curbside recycling program.

The newsletter will be recycled as white ledger paper, a category of material that is not collected at curbside, except in the case of GCR newsletters. However, white ledger paper comprises 70 percent of the 576 tons of white office paper that is recycled annually in GCR's office paper recycling program.

Further information about the business subscription program is available from Gulf Coast Recycling at 863-8107.

In the Real World

Reading and Writing really count.

"The newspaper in the classroom gives the students a 'tangible example of purpose' for writing and reading. It is a source found in the 'real world' for proper grammar, spelling, verb agreement and paragraphing. The lagniappe is that we use our local paper, where we often find pictures or articles about our own family members or friends."

-- Mrs. Chamberlain Bay Middle School 4th Grade Teacher

I like the newspaper because it tells us what's going around in the town, and it's exciting to read. You get to relax when your tired and read it. You get to read about other people and what there doing around town.

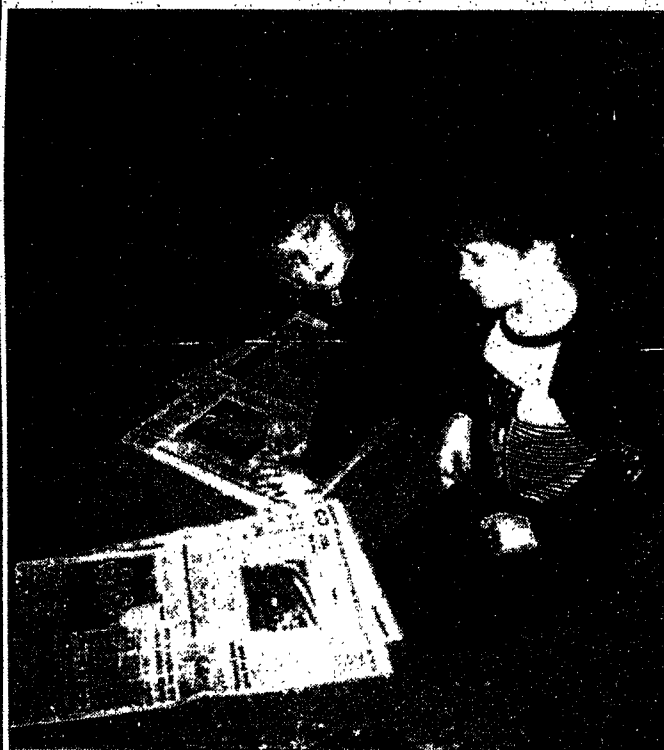

*Chauntelle L. Hanson
4th Grade -- Bay Middle School*

I like it because you learn alot too and you can always look up words that you can't spell and it is great.

*Rodney Bradley
4th Grade -- Bay Middle School*

Dear Sea Coast Echo, I use it in many ways. Like at school I use it to do reports. I use it at home to find out things in my neighborhood.

Thank you,
*Jessica Melville
5th Grade -- Bay Middle School*

Dear Sea Coast Echo, I am using my newspaper's for English. I underline the compound predicates and the compound subjects. I circle the prepositions. I also circle the adverbs and adjectives.

Your Friend,
*Erin Yarbrough
5th Grade -- Bay Middle School*

I like the time we looked in the newspaper and found words that described us. Then we made airplanes out of the paper. Then when the teacher counted us on, we flew the airplane that was closest to us. For about one minute we flew airplanes. Then, when the teacher blew the whistle, we picked up the airplane that was closest to us. When the teacher came around to us, we read the words that was on that paper and we had to guess who's paper we had. In the newspaper we looked for words that were pronouns, nouns, apostrophies, and a lot of other stuff, and we high-lighted them.

*Nicole Washington
4th Grade -- Bay Middle School*

Dear Sea Coast Echo, We use the Echo in English, and it helps me to know whats happening in life. We use it to find verbs, pronouns, and adverbs in it. The Echo is fun to read, and very interesting.

*Della Quintin
5th Grade -- Bay Middle School*

"The students really enjoy receiving The Sea Coast Echo. It has enabled them to become more aware of their surroundings and the people in their community."

*-- Mrs. Monti
Bay Middle School 5th Grade*

The Echo helps us in english. And it lets us know what is going on in are community. It lets people find lawn and garden jobs. It also helps us to find marriages. We could find out who died in the obituaries.

*Michael Mevo
5th Grade -- Bay Middle School*
